Dear Mister Șomănescu,

Mircea Vulcănescu was a state undersecretary in the Ministry of Finance in Ion Antonescu's cabinet and that is why he is considered to be a controversial figure. I strongly believe that for the sake of the children, it is better to have the high school named after a Romanian hero who saved lives, a person whose past can be viewed as spotless without any doubt. On the other hand, the initiative to rename streets and buildings is of different cities and subject to the approval of the Romanian authorities.

All the best,

Ambassador Tamar Samash
